

Federation Bells schedule 2011/2012

From November 2011 to March 2012, the City of Melbourne and Arts Victoria are working to improve the performance of the Federation Bells.

A innovative striking mechanism has been designed and is being manufactured, and new acoustic covers to the Bells are being moulded. The control system now models the actions of a real musician, the scheduler software is undergoing redesign and the hardware is being replaced.

Upon completion of the refurbishment, the Federation Bells will be a more reliable, dynamic and coherent musical instrument.

Throughout this time you can still listen to and compose music for the Federation Bells here.
